Southern Bell Is Fulton County's Largest Taxpayer

Two checks, totaling more than $15,000, were presented this week to City of Fulton and Fulton County officials for 1964 ad valorem taxes by the Southern Bell Telephone Company.

A check for $13,309.17 was handed to Sheriff Joe Campbell in Hickman by retired Southern Bell employee Mrs. Mayme Stahl and Fulton City Manager Rollin Shaw received a payment of $1,804.27 from Southern Bell.

Jottings From Jo's Notebook

Besides watching some alleged Democratic campaign leaders drag their feet during the recent election, another irritation I suffered was the constant reference to Fulton, Fulton County and the twin cities as a sore spot of civil rights unrest. I cannot begin to name the metropolitan newspaper people and state-wide political leaders who called me to explain the so-called Democratic revolt on account of the integrated schools and the public accommodations law.

Each time I reported to them that it was all a trumped up bit of poppy-cock, that no such unrest existed, they would point out that "Fulton has the 'Old South' attitude toward integration and hence the 'danger-zone' for the Democrats. Every time I read such reference to our community I got mad at the obvious back-handed compliment. Sure, we have an Old South attitude. We love magnolias, mint juleps, sunshine, thoroughbred horses and gentle living. If such characteristics make us law-violating citizens I'm for getting out the guns and fighting a duel to protect the honor of our communities.

One political writer tried to back up his statement of unrest by citing that in 1964 we gave Johnson-Humphrey 16 1/2% less votes than we gave Truman in 1948. He failed to mention that on the Truman ticket was Alben W. Barkley of West Kentucky, a candidate for vice-president of the United States, and one of the few Kentuckians ever selected to run for such a high office.

The huge Democratic vote in our county and in South Fulton was certainly a vindication of that "sore-spot" charge. Yet, I'd just like to make the charge seem more ridiculous when I look back into a few instances of the near and distant past.

When the public schools integrated in the City of Fulton, for the first time, hordes of metropolitan newspaper and magazine reporters, wire services and even over-seas news services were in the city to cover the event, expecting all kinds of mob scenes and violence. Many of the press people made our office their headquarters, and I can tell you they were a mighty disappointed lot when the integration proceedings went off as harmoniously and efficiently as though never a dissenting word had ever been voiced about integration.

Digging for any possible news that might cast a dark light on our integration, the reporters left in about 24 hours, calling their visit the worst water-haul that ever happened. Knowing pretty much what goes on around these two cities, I can say without fear of contradiction that not once, not one time have I ever heard a derogatory word, or unpleasant incident that has happened as a result of our integrated schools. Moreover, never, but never have our children said an unpleasant or unkind word about their classmates, nor have their friends, and there are a goodly number of young people who hang around our house.

The same thing can be said of the South Fulton Schools. As a matter of fact so uneventful was the integration in South Fulton, I didn't even know it was in effect until a few weeks after it happened. This situation speaks extremely well for both our white and negro populations. It is abundantly evident that we are good law-abiding Americans first, and Southerners second, magnolias, mint juleps, cotton plantations and everything considered.

Manager Curtis B. Mathis. The Fulton County check was the largest received this year, according to Sheriff Campbell.

The tax payment is part of about $3,046,000 which Southern Bell will pay to Kentucky counties and cities this year in taxes.

"Southern Bell also presented an ad valorem tax payment of $353,175 to the Commonwealth of Kentucky in September, according to Mathis.

These payments are part of an estimated $4,575,000 tax bill to be paid by Southern Bell to the state, counties and municipalities this year, he said. "And, this tax payment does not include the sales taxes collected from our customers and of social security, income and excise taxes paid to the Federal Government as a result of our operations in Kentucky," Mathis pointed out.

Southern Bell, the largest single taxpayer in Fulton County, paid its 1964 ad valorem taxes earlier this week. Making the presentation on behalf of the Company is Mrs. Mayme Stahl, a retired employee living in Hickman. Sheriff Joe Campbell is shown accepting it.

Photo-Quiz Ad May Mean Ten Dollars To You

Have you been looking at the Photo-Quiz advertisement in the News each week to see if you're on candid camera? You'd better get in the habit of doing so, for it might mean ten, cold, cash dollars for you.

Starting three weeks ago three local women have been handed checks because they were snapped along Fulton's streets, without ever having seen the News photographer. Thus far Mrs. Ed Halley, Mrs. George Moore and Mrs. Rich Gardner have become richer by ten dollars because they were on "candid camera."

Look at the advertisement today sponsored by the Pure Milk Co., Melrose Chemicals, Wade TV, and Southern States Fulton Co-op, all of Fulton; Discount Furniture Mart of Martin and E. W. James Super Market of Union City and Hickman. You may find yourself pictured there, making you the winner of a ten dollar check... with no strings attached.

Was Project-Unit Us A Good Theme?

Ray Williams, who with his wife Mary Ann, hosted the Costa Rican dance team, can testify that Project-Unit Us succeeded in every way to make our Festival visitors love and understand us. Here are excerpts from some letters received by them.

"All the North American people are lovely and especially in your home town, I would like to send a kiss to everyone I met there... Will you please give them my regards and gratefulness for being so kind to us, because you did not have to do it. We came from a poor little country and you are big and rich country that the only thing we could take you up there was our heart full of love. Fulton Commission Votes Unanimously To Appoint Authority To Get Civic Center

The Fulton City Commission voted unanimously Monday night to appoint a Civic Center Authority to work toward the establishment of such a facility in the City of Fulton.

Mrs. Paul Westpheling appeared before the Commission to report on preliminary findings by which to proceed to secure State, Federal and Foundation funds to finance the proposed center.

Earlier on Monday Lee Potter Smith and Bob Seay, of the well known architectural firm in Paducah flew to Fulton to discuss plans for the proposed center, pointing out that Federal funds may be secured to do preliminary engineering surveys for the project. As soon as the members of the Authority are appointed, (a group that will function as an entity of the City of Fulton) City Manager Rollin Shaw will file an application to the proper housing agency in Atlanta for advance funds to do research on the project.

Mayor Gilbert DeMyer, has shown a keen interest in establishing a proposed center that may be called the Latin-American Friendship Center. Offering his support and endorsement of the proposal, Mayor DeMyer was enthusiastically joined by other members of the Commission in setting up the organization to move ahead with plans to erect a facility that bids well to become a giant tourist attraction.

An indication of the Commission's enthusiasm was voiced by Commissioner Ward Johnson who told the News Editor: "We'd appoint the board tonight if you had the names. Then we'd be that far along on the project."

Commissioner W. P. Burnette, an officer and avid Banana Festival enthusiast said: "We can't begin to expand the Banana Festival like we want to unless we

Boy Scout Finance Drive Lagging; Fulton Has Large Scouting Program

Scarcely one third of the $2500 quota has been collected in the annual finance drive for the Four Rivers Council, Boy Scouts of America, it was learned at press time on Wednesday. With the Fulton area containing one of the heaviest concentration of Boy Scout activities in the Council, the expansive program of Scouting would have to be curtailed sharply unless the quota is met, a Scout official told the News.

The money to be raised locally is to maintain two large Cub packs, three Scout troops and one Explorer troop, Ted Simmons reported.

In detailing the functions for which funds contributed are spent Mr. Simmons gave these facts:

The Boy Scouts of America is an organization for boys and young men which is carried on in local institutions, such as churches and civic clubs. It is not government subsidized and must be supported by the general public by contributions during the annual drive. This drive is headed by a local man and all workers are local people. A goal is set, based on the needs of the local council for the coming year. If scouting is to be carried on in a given town, this town must meet its goal.

Now, you may wonder where this money goes. The money raised in the Boy Scout drive, unlike many other of our very worthwhile drives, is used directly for the good of the people of the town in which it is raised. It can be proven that 99c out of each $1.00 collected is spent in the general area where it is raised.

Some of the things this money is spent for are:

- 1 - Bulletins, literature and program helps sent to the units.
- 2 - Maintenance of a 1,000 acre camp on Kentucky Lake, which is open to the boys 363 days a year, closing only on Thanksgiving and Christmas.
- 3 - The salary for the full-time District Boy Scout executive, who lives and works in the area.
- 4 - Electricity, water, heat and rent for the Boy Scout Council of

Weakley County Civic Leaders Go On Industry-Hunting Safari

The industry-seeking visit to Chicago recently by a group of Weakley Countians was a big success. Viron Beard, president of the Weakley County Chamber of Commerce, said, "I think I can speak for all those who participated in the trip in saying that we are most optimistic about the industrial growth of Weakley County as a result of the calls made."

Mr. Beard said.

Four excellent prospects were obtained from the trip. Of the four, one is interested in an immediate location and the other three are planning expansions within the next six months. "All four appeared strongly interested in our presentation of Weakley County as a site for their firms," Mr. Beard said.

A total of 49 calls were made on industrial concerns by the seven-man team. Each firm was presented the "Weakley County Story" and brought up-to-date on the facilities available to it in this county. Team members were well-received and listened to attentively as they were given the facts on manpower, available sites, and other factors advantageous to their operations in Weakley County.

Martin Mayor Doug Murphy was high in his praise of the trip. "This was truly a team effort with every man working for Weakley County. There was no effort by anyone to put his town over others, but rather, everyone concentrated upon selling the prospects upon Weakley County. It was a most gratifying experience to witness the hard work for a common goal put forth by the team members," Mayor Murphy said.

Mayor Murphy added that the spirit of co-operation and sincere effort to benefit the county as a whole is a continuation of the new spirit in the county. "I have felt for sometime that Weakley County has entered a new and highly progressive era growing out of county-wide cooperation. This trip just concluded was further evidence of this co-operative spirit," Mr. Murphy said.

Greenfield Mayor Sam Williams felt the trip was highly worthwhile and that concrete results were obtained. "I believe that if the people of Weakley County, and I speak of not just a few but all, want industry it can be obtained. However, it will require the work and co-operation of all of us. This trip was a good start in this direction," he said.

James Travis of Dresden commented, "In all my experience of calling on people, I have never been welcomed as cordially and given the considerate attention that the executives of these companies gave us. It convinced me that we are getting favorable attention in our efforts to attract industry to the county."

County Judge Cayce Penetecost was given a report of the trip after the group returned. He expressed his gratification at the results and then issued the following statement: "All the people of Weakley County owe these men who went to Chicago a debt of thanks. They took time from their business and used their own money to work for Weakley County. It is wonderful to witness this county-wide movement for progress."

Mr. Beard announced that Executive Director Bill Teuton will return to Chicago within a short-

American Education Week Reminds Us That Learning Is Basic To Every Phase Of Life

"Education Pays Dividends" is the theme for the 1964 observance, November 8-14, of American Education Week—and the official who represents Mississippi in the policy-making council of the National Education Association (NEA) says that he can prove it.

Representing the 903,000 classroom teachers, principals, professors, superintendents and specialist teachers in their states, members of the NEA board of directors point out that besides the purely financial dividends education may bring to the student and his community, it can bring others, less tangible perhaps but nonetheless real.

The NEA directors declare that the individual student may earn more money as his educational level increases, and the governments of which he is a citizen may thus be strengthened through his increased financial capacity to pay taxes. But, they add, education can also bring the individual a sense of self-fulfillment in realizing more fully his intellectual powers, in understanding the facts and philosophies of the world, in appreciating its culture. And through these changes, they point out, education can help turn the individual into a more active and effective citizen thereby benefitting the entire nation.

But the tangible dividends are indicated by these facts, the NEA says.

The better an individual's education, the more he produces, the more he buys and consumes, the more he reads, the more active he is in civic and national affairs, the higher his standard of living. (Source: U. S. Chamber of Commerce.)

On the average, in 1961, men with less than an eighth grade education earned $2,090; men who finished eighth grade $3,542; men who completed high school $5,052; men who graduated from college, $7,691. (Source: U. S. Census Bureau.)

For every $1,000 spent building new schools, 212 hours of work are created. The average school job takes 81 persons to complete. At least 38 of these come from the community where the school is built. (Source: Bureau of Labor Statistics.)

For every $100,000 spent on a new school, $26,000 comes back directly to local merchants. The average school construction cost is $730,000, including $190,000 in wages to local workers—architects, engineers, truck drivers, carpenters, plumbers, and others. School construction provides jobs for 275,000 persons annually. (Source: Bureau of Labor Statistics.)

The observance this year of American Education Week will be the 43rd. Since it was started in 1921 by the National Education Association and the American Legion (the U. S. Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers have since joined as sponsors) the week has been devoted to increasing public understanding of education and its role in a democracy.

President Johnson—as other presidents before him—spelled this out in proclaiming American Education Week.

"Education," he said, "is basic to every facet of our individual lives and of the life of our nation. We must constantly strive to assure that each of our people has the opportunity to obtain the best education possible—for upon the accomplishment of that task depends the realization of our hopes and aspirations for a bright future for our nation and our children."

DESIRE

The thirst of desire is never filled, nor fully satisfied.

—Cicero

Some desire is necessary to keep life in motion; he whose real wants are supplied, must admit those of fancy.

—Samuel Johnson

What we most need is the prayer of fervent desire for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love, and good deeds.

—Mary Baker Eddy

We trifle when we assign limits to our desires, since nature hath set none.

—C. N. Bovee

The stoical schemes of supplying our wants by lopping off our desires, is like cutting off our feet when we want shoes.

—Jonathan Swift

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission

By JOE JORDAN

Frankfort—Last May, Kentucky launched an all-out campaign to reduce the mounting slaughter on its highways. Since speed is one of the principal causes of serious accidents, we began in mid-August suspending the licenses of every convicted excessive speeder for a period of 90 days. There are no exceptions.

This is one of the most drastic crackdowns ever undertaken by any state. Since this drive started, I've had some interesting letters, visitors, and telephone calls.

One man wrote me: "You'll never get my vote again." Another asked: "What kind of governor are you? It's the job of the politician to do favors for as many people as he can. If you don't do favors, you won't be a good governor!" I even got it from a couple of judges. Some of my friends are worried over what effect this clamor will have on my political future. The answer is very simple. The only way for a governor to handle a drive such as this—or any other decision, for that matter—is not to worry about votes, but to do the right thing and the votes will take care of themselves.

I'm convinced that trying to save lives is the right thing. If the program results in saving the life of even one unknown person, then it's a success. If a number of lives are saved, it would be a God-send.

Last year 837 persons were ruthlessly slain on our state's highways. These are the deaths of fathers and mothers; college students and servicemen; the store clerk; the neighbor next door; and little boys and girls who are too young to protect themselves from the dangers of the adult world.

This is an appalling waste of life. Even more appalling has been the failure of many of our public officials and many of our citizens to do something about it. We have become used to the ghastly blood-letting on our highways. We have come to accept highway deaths as inevitable.

Many persons think of traffic safety as the job of public officials only. Let the police do it. Let the legislature do it. Let the courts do it. Anyone but me.

It's not as simple as that. There is an individual responsibility to be assumed. Organizations have a responsibility too. There must be citizen understanding and citizen support because there is always somebody ready to throw a brickbat at a traffic safety program. There are too many selfish interests ready to tear it down. There are too many toes to be stepped on when strict law enforcement is the key to a drive.

Our county judges, our prosecutors, our police officials, cannot stand alone in this drive. They've got to have public support behind them. If a law is unpopular, if a law doesn't have public support, public officials will not press for its enforcement.

We have made one thing crystal clear from the beginning of this campaign. Kentucky is not interested in piling up a long list of convictions and suspensions. Our goal is to slow drivers down and keep them alive. We won't consider the program a real success until traffic slows down to the point where few arrests have to be made.

In this safety campaign we have made an ironic discovery. Apparently there are thousands of drivers who won't heed an appeal to slow down to save their own lives or the lives of their families. But they will slow down to save their licenses.

Presently, the State is working in several areas in an effort to improve our highway safety program. Our Division of Traffic is making a close study of no-passing zones to see what actions we can take to make these points on the road safer. We also are conducting a study of the State's railroad crossings to hopefully curb this type wreck. We plan to prepare a manual for traffic courts and we are considering methods to achieve a uniform traffic ticket at all enforcement levels.

We hope to improve the physical and training standards for school bus drivers because no driver in Kentucky carries a more precious carload. We are considering several uniform markings for farm machinery so that this equipment can be seen quicker. Soon, our action program, whose basis is a study made by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, will get under way.

These are programs, small and big, all designed to save lives on Kentucky's highways. There are many more areas of highway safety we plan to look into, and you will be hearing from us in the months ahead.

At the local level, I would suggest the creation of county committees whose functions would be to educate the public in safety programs, to explore and improve road hazards and to establish local, positive, hard-hitting safety campaigns. Believing that strict law enforcement is the key to our drive, I feel our judges must spearhead the highway safety campaigns in our counties.

But they can't do the job without citizen support. It is up to you people to marshal that support and put it into live-saving action.

I am determined to face up to this problem and work with you to solve it. Let us hope we can generate sufficient wisdom and enthusiasm to make our highways a path to life and enjoyment instead of a road to death and tragedy.

Tobacco Ass'n. Reveals Dark Fired Support

The Western Dark Fired Tobacco Growers Association announced today the loan rates for both fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco and advised that Nondescript grades would carry support prices of fifteen (15c) cents.

The Association is pleased that the United States Department of Agriculture approved the request of this and other dark tobacco associations for the support of all sound tobacco.

Loan rates for fire-cured tobacco are $0.50 higher than last year and range from 15c to 64c per pound. Increases of $1 per hundred were applied to first, second and third qualities of several leaf grades and for the 5th quality lugs.

Grade loan rates for Type 35 air-cured are based on an average loan level of 35.5 cents per pound. The loan rates range from 15c to 52c per pound. Most lug grades will be increased $1 per hundred pounds.

The 1964 crop in the Western District of both fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco is expected to total approximately 14,500,000 pounds or 1,500,000 pounds less than last year.

Market opening dates have not been announced. Charles E. Wright is a member of the board from Fulton-Obion Counties.

Fulton County Agent's News

JOHN WATTS

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that hogs and pigs on farms in 10 Corn Belt states are seven percent less than a year ago and five percent below September 1 of 1962.

The summer drought, low fertility, and competition from grasses and weeds, crowded legumes from an estimated 4 to 5 million Kentucky pasture and hay acres, so, says Warren G. Thompson, U. K. Ag. Extension Service forage specialist. Legumes should be put back into these fields by renovation. These pastures simply need a "perk up," he says, as most have good stands of grass.

He recommends:

1) If field has heavy grass growth, graze it off close. Such herbage now is better food for cattle than it will be later in winter.

2) Test soil and add needed lime, phosphate and potash. Leaching is no problem when these are used; and it's easier to get the materials on before the field is disked.

3) Tear up 40 to 60 percent of existing sod. Use a disk or similar tool. Disk on contours to prevent erosion.

4) In February or early March, smooth the soil and seed legumes. Recommended legumes are red clover, white clover, ladino or alfalfa.

Fields so treated should give 50 percent more forage in 1965 than they yielded in 1964.

A big majority of Fulton County farmers have reported the presence of corn borers in their corn fields. The European Corn Borer is the most destructive pest of corn in America.

A high infestation may reduce yields quite seriously. It may damage a crop by feeding on the leaves, sheath girdling, breaching of the midribs, tunnelling in the stalk, and other various ways.

The tunnelling also exposes the plant to disease organisms that cause stalk and ear rots.

The best cultural practice is probably that of plowing under of corn stubble and residues. This may reduce the number of hibernating larvae by as much as 99 per cent. Preferably, plowing is done in the fall, but may be done in the spring before the moths emerge. Borers are able to crawl to the surface but finding no plant fragments for shelter, they die because of adverse weather and predators. Buried moths cannot make their way to the soil surface.

JAMES HURT

Four yards and a cloud of dust—that's James Hurt. The 160-lb. halfback was the work-horse of the football team this year on offense. James wound up the season with a rushing average of 4.9 yards per game on 95 carries and a total of 465 yards. James came in second on total offense on the team and would come through for the Bulldogs when they needed one or two yards. Scoring 36 points—five TD's and 6 extra points, James was toughest inside the five yard-line. He had his best game with Obion County—even though it was a losing effort. He collected 127 yards on 10 plays for a 12.7 average and one TD. James is an all-around student combining sport on the gridiron and work in the classroom successfully. He also engages in basketball during the winter and is a dash man on the track team during the spring.

Students And Teachers Discuss Pro And Con Of FHS Student Council

Those expressing their views in the FHS Forum are Mr. Snider, Charles Allen, Brenda McBride, Laura Hefley, and Jimmy Treas.

"From The FHS Kennel"

QUESTION: WOULD A STUDENT COUNCIL BENEFIT FULTON HIGH SCHOOL?

LAURA HEFLEY — I believe that a student council would definitely benefit Fulton High School. In most schools a student council is composed of representatives from all four classes who meet with school officials and discuss problems pertaining to the school. Each representative states the views of his particular class and the council then tries to decide on satisfactory solutions. This leads to better understanding between the faculty and the students. The student council could be of benefit in controversial problems, such as the one concerning the annual fund raising drive. In view of these factors, I believe that a student council would be advantageous to Fulton High.

JIMMY TREAS — Yes, I think definitely that a student council would benefit our school. In my opinion such a council would strengthen student relations, for it would help settle disputes and debates ideas among the students. Many other schools have used these student councils to great effect. It would give the representatives of each class an opportunity to express ideas for projects that would benefit the entire student body.

MR. SNIDER — No — I think not. The student body of Fulton High School is very capable of managing themselves. Possibly it would be beneficial in a larger school, where a great many problems exist among the students, but here most problems seem to be under control.

As a compliment to the student body of Fulton High School let me say that the attitude and character of our students is such that we have no need for such an organization that works in some cases and causes disturbances in others. Organizations just for the sake of organizing have no real value.

BRENDA MCBRIDE — In my opinion a student council would greatly benefit the students of F. H. S. A student council's purpose is to solve the problems of the students and to make many of the rules of the school.

I think that a student could also help to create leadership among the students participating. It would give the students a feeling of having a part in the school government.

I think that a student council

In Kentucky... after bowling, beer is a natural

After you've bowled a game or two, or when you're winding up the evening at the neighborhood bowling center, it's good to relax with friends and compare scores. What better way to add to the sport and the sociableness than with a refreshing glass of beer? However you take your fun—skiing, skating, or at your ease in the game room—beer always makes a welcome addition to the party.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

1964 FHS Football Season Review

"From The FHS Kennel"

By Rodney Foster

Football is over for this year at Fulton High, and the Bulldogs have completed another successful season. The Bulldogs won five and lost four games. Fulton did well on the road winning four out of the five road games. At home the Bulldogs did not do so well. They lost three out of four home games, but won the Homecoming game against Fort Campbell.

Here is a game by game description of the Fulton football season.

In the first game of the season the Bulldogs played at home and lost to Obion County 19 to 7. Fulton's only TD came in the third quarter, as James Hurt carried the pigskin over from 25 yards out. Andy Batts made the point after the touchdown.

Fulton made up for its opening game loss to Obion by trouncing the Fulton County Pilots 40-2. The Pilots were first to score with two points for a safety. Quarterback Greg Williamson threw a pass to David Mann to start the scoring for the Bulldogs. In the first half Mann, Green, and Williamson had scored TD's. In the second half Hurt, Green, and Stephens scored touchdowns. Hurt, Green, Stephens, and Batts made extra points.

Fulton was still fired up over their win the previous week, as they journeyed to Martin in their third game of the season. In this game Donnie Green scored two touchdowns and David Mann caught a pass for six points. Also defensive end Ronnie Homra scored when he picked up the ball and ran 30 yards for a TD after Terry Willingham had blocked a punt to set up Homra's run. This was possibly the Bulldogs' best game of the young season.

The Bulldogs lost in the fourth game of the season to Murray 41-6. Murray gained a tremendous amount of yardage and scored too many points for the Bulldogs to overcome. Donnie Green scored the only Fulton touchdown on a long run.

Fulton played Newbern there on a Thursday night. The Bulldogs defeated Newbern 26 to 13 as Donnie Green scored three touchdowns. Mike Stephens, with a 98 yard run, scored the other two TD's.

In Fulton's sixth game the Bulldogs went to Greenfield. They lost to the Yellowjackets by a score of 35 to 12. Donnie Green and Andy Batts scored Fulton's touchdowns.

Fulton's next game was their Homecoming game against Fort Campbell. The Bulldogs beat the Falcons 25-14, as Football Queen, Susan Walker, watched from midfield. Greg scored and James added the extra point for the first TD. James went over from one yard out for the next TD. Donnie Green and Greg scored the remaining two touchdowns.

The Bulldogs played South Fulton in the traditional arch-rivalry game between these two teams. Both teams were ready for this game. In the first quarter Wayne Lohaus blocked a South Fulton punt to set up the first Fulton touchdown. James Hurt went over from the five standing up for the first TD. Lone Oak Band Selected For Huge Parade

The Lone Oak High School band, which is only a little more than four years old, has been selected to be Kentucky's high school band representative in the biggest governmental event of them all—the inauguration of President Lyndon B. Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

State Democratic Campaign Frank R. Paxton of Paducah announced Saturday that he had chosen the McCracken County community's band to perform for the state in the marching and other band demonstrations of the inaugural program Jan. 14.

The band will join one band from each of the other 49 states in the colorful, exciting march which will be a prelude to the taking of oaths by the President and vice president.

One college band also has been chosen from each state, and the Kentucky honor went to the famous University of Kentucky band.

Explorette Club Recently Formed

"From The FHS Kennel"

The newly formed Explorettes, the feminine form of Explorers, consists of junior and senior girls from Fulton High. The club has about 29 members.

Each member has to pay the club dues of $1.75 when she joins. The monthly dues are $.25.

The uniforms will be similar to the explorers' dress uniforms. They will consist of gray skirts, white blouses, and navy blazers.

The Explorettes will assist the Explorers with their projects. There are plans for forming a bowling league for the Explorers and Explorettes. There are also plans for organizing a drill team for the Explorettes.

The officers for the coming year are: president, Sandra Cash; vice president, Phyllis Crocker; secretary, Betty Bennett; treasurer, Carole Pigue, and quartermaster, Sylvia Carden.

Since this is the first year for Explorettes, and it is not a national organization, the future plans are not definite. The future plans will have to wait so they will correspond with the activities of the Explorers.

Fulton High Library Purchases New Books

"From The FHS Kennel"
Several new books have been purchased for the library this fall. A few of the new additions are "Exodus," "Breaking The Bonds," and "The Torch Is Passed."
"Exodus" is a story of the Jews going to Israel during World War II because of the cruel treatment by Hitler. This was to be their homeland.
"Breaking The Bonds" is a novel about the Peace Corps.
"The Torch Is Passed" is a story of the four days in November of 1963. It describes in detail the death and burial of John F. Kennedy.
There are eighty new books in the library, and the cost is approximately $226.04.
Library appropriations as required by law are $1.50 per student and $.75 for visual aids. Here at Fulton High School it is $2.50 per student for library appropriations and $1.50 per student for visual aids. With an approximate enrollment of 220 students each year, $500.00 is spent on books and $310.00 on visual aids. One hundred dollars is spent on magazines and newspapers and $100 on library supplies. It all comes to a total of approximately $1,060.00, which means we have a well-equipped library.

Junior English Students Present Speeches On A Variety Of Topics

"From The FHS Kennel"
For the past week the Junior English classes have been giving speeches. The topics ranged from the "Trials and Tribulations of Gumbo," to "Buddhism." Some of the most interesting topics were: "Teaching as a Career," "Alcoholism," "Humanlike Porpoise," "Cannibalism," "Value of Nutrition," "Mathematics Today," "Hinduism," "Electrical Stimulation of the Brain," "Peace Corps," and "Drug Addiction."
This was the first attempt at speechmaking made by many of the class, and the results were as varied as the topics. These speeches were accompanied by many superfluous "uhs," "ahs," "pardons," shuffling of notes and a few profound intervals of silence.

Students Receive Magazine Awards

"From The FHS Kennel"
The various awards for this year's magazine drive were given in assembly on Wednesday, October 14. For the fourth consecutive year Terry Thomas had the highest sales record. Others who were recognized with a certificate of achievement and a hundred-dollar sales club pen were Sally Pirtle, Tom Bushart and Mike Campbell.
The following students received a Certificate of Achievement for selling thirty dollars or more in magazine subscriptions: Majorie Collier, John Reed, Carlie Lou Bolin, Henry Armstrong, Lana Hutchens, Robert Lee, Mary Mitchell, Nancy Treas, Marshall Burgess, Susan Walker, Patti Hixson, Buddy Hefley, Ruth Ann Burnette, Carole Pigue, Glenn Fry, Brenda McBride and Sherry Milstead.

The students who sold five fifty per-cent magazines were presented with a stuffed bulldog. They were Ruth Ann Burnette, Carlie Lou Bolin, Marjorie Collier, Janie Sue Hicks, Joyce Lee, Brenda McBride, Mike Campbell, Henry Armstrong, David Hazelwood, John Reed, Robert Lee, Mary Mitchell, Carole Pigue, Judy Barron, Carolyn Hood, Sally Pirtle, Terry Thomas, Andy Batts, Tom Bushart, Patti Hixson and Marshall Burgess.

The students who sold two Saturday Evening Posts were presented with Kook and Kookie. They were Ruth Ann Burnette, Roma Foster, Majorie Collier, David Hazelwood, Buddy Hefley, Danny Hewitt, Mary Mitchell, Terry Thomas, Nancy Treas, Andy Batts and Marshall Burgess.

The following names and prizes are as listed: Ruth Ann Burnette and Melonie Puckett won a camera; Carlie Lou Bolin, Cathy Campbell, Lana Hutchens, Brenda McBride, Henry Armstrong, Buddy Hefley, Gary Parker, Carole Pigue and Robert Lee were awarded folding field glasses; Marjorie Collier, Nancy Treas and Susan Walker chose billfolds as prizes; John Reed and Andy Batts were presented dictionaries; Mary Mitchell and Marshall Burgess received desk set lamps; Tom Bushart won an alarm clock; Terry Thomas chose an iron; Patti Hixson received a countless ladybug; Sally Pirtle was given a travel clock; and Mike Campbell received a Timex Man's watch.
The prizes were presented by Mr. Martin. He stated that it was a most successful year.

Many of the attention-getting openings were really amazing. One student advanced to the podium and calmly stated, "I'm going to kill myself." Another actually brought a package of cigarettes which he nonchalantly tossed into the wastebasket with the stirring vociferation, "Teenagers, is smoking really worth it?"
The speech unit will include persuasive speeches and spur-of-the-moment addresses. Since Fulton High does not offer a course in speech, this is indispensable. The benefit is invaluable, for it not only enlightens the listeners but also gives the speakers more confidence and ease in speaking before a group. For the majority, these talks were a novel, enjoyable and rewarding experience.

Judy Olive Presents Informative Program
"From The FHS Kennel"
The Future Homemakers of America met Wednesday, October 21, 1964, in the Farm Room. Carol Luther, the president, opened the meeting with the opening rituals. The secretary, Brenda McBride, read the minutes and called the roll. The treasurer's report was given by Carlie Lou Bolin. The program was turned over to Judy Olive. Cindy Homra gave the devotional with Carolyn Allen reading the scripture.
Judy presented a panel to discuss teenage problems. On this panel were Mrs. Marchman; Mrs. Fred Homra; Rev. Glynn Kapperman, minister of the Presbyterian Church; Stuart Voelpel; and Wayne Lohaus. The discussion was very informative and it was enjoyed by everyone. The meeting was closed with the closing rituals.

New Officers Are Elected In Future Nurses Club
"From The FHS Kennel"
The first meeting of the Future Nurses Club was held on Wednesday, October 14, in the farm room. The new officers for this year were elected as follows: Margaret Omar, president; Jeanie Hinton, vice-president; Letha Exum, secretary and treasurer; and Peggy Reams, reporter.
Mrs. Braswell, the club's sponsor, discussed the topics for this year's programs.

DETROIT NEWS

By Roy Maurer

Well, here it is November and bird season again. Soon will be deer season. How time flies. Another birthday and anniversary coming up at the end of this month.

Last Saturday night we attended a farewell party for Captain Dwayne Kidd, who left for three years of overseas duty in Germany, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bowden in Lincoln Park. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bowden and son, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Maurer and daughters, Dave Bowden, Mrs. Berah Hampton, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Maurer and Dave's sister Alice and her family. Dwayne's wife, Dotty, and two sons will stay here until he can find a place for them to live, about three months or so.

Roger Hays sprained his ankle playing football. He said tough walking on one foot.

Saturday was a busy day at our church, men putting up the cross and women washing windows and helping to paint the doors, getting ready for winter. They sure were a sight in their working clothes, but Sunday they will be as pretty as ever in high heels and fancy clothes, with a little powder and paint to complete the picture.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Wooten went visiting in the old neighborhood with Mrs. Hampton and stopped at Mrs. O. Connell's, Mrs. Killebrew's, Mrs. Freeman's and too many other places to mention.

Our newspapers are still not being published, 118 days now.

The new manse should be ready to move into by December 20. Sure is pretty.

I forgot to mention last week that Uncle Bob Alcock celebrated his 96th birthday October 31. Happy birthday, Uncle Bob from all of us at church and all who know you.

Our sick list - Mrs. Euna Rodgers, Mrs. Eva Mallard, Mrs. Esther Jones.

Leslie McAllister went on a hike with 18 boy scouts Saturday at Metamorra Camp Grounds.

The 22nd of this month I will be another year older, soon be three years since retirement. If you are here on a visit for the holidays, stop in at church. You are always welcome and will hear good preaching and good singing, also see friends and kin folks.

Call me with news, as this paper reaches many states and lots of people would like to know what's going on at your house. If you can't call, write to me at 31529 Beaconsfield Road, Roseville, Michigan 48066. I'll be looking for that letter.

Until next time, if you meet the other person half way, it would be better for all concerned. Try it and see.

Lester Betty Says Investment In Education Pays Highest Dividends

The week of November 8-14 is American Education Week, sponsored by the National Education Association, the American Legion, National Congress of Parents & Teachers, and the U. S. Office of Education.

Lester Betty, principal of South Fulton West, said that an investment in education pays the highest dividend of any investment in the world.

In fact, entering the first grade is like opening a savings account; the longer the investment is kept going, the higher the dividend grows.

Of all investments a person can make, education pays the highest return. On the basis of lifetime earnings, it can pay off as high as 10 to 1.

Mr. Betty explained that this shows the National Education Association demonstrates the value of investing in education in its data for American Education Week, November 8-14. This year's theme is "Education Pays Dividends."

The NEA says the hard facts about the worth of education include the following:

Society has fewer jobs for the uneducated. So, more than ever before, education stands between the man and his job.

Education is required today to understand the daily newspapers and the complicated processes at work in our society.

Education is needed to solve today's problems in every community.

Tomorrow's problems will require flexibility and intelligence, two of the hallmarks of education.

Education pays dividends, the NEA says, in seven ways. Each of these is assigned a day during American Education Week in order that it can be explored extensively.

These are the seven dividends: In better human relations, in improved earning power, in personal fulfillment, in good citizenship, in national economic growth, in better communities, and in international relations.

Education Week Committee Makes Known 'Education's Dividends'

An interesting and informative program of events has been planned by the Fulton City Schools during American Education Week, which is being observed this week. "Education Pays Dividends" is the theme for the week.

Parents are invited to visit the classrooms on the day or days designated. Visitation will be observed at Cary Elementary, Terry Norman and Fulton High School today (Thursday). Milton has invited parents any time during the week. This visit means a great deal to the students and also helps parents know the teachers better, a school official said.

Mrs. M. L. Herring spoke at the Rotary Club Tuesday and Mrs. Charles Robert Bennett will speak at the Lions Club tomorrow. Their subject material covers facts which relate to the local schools.

Using sub-topics of the theme, "Education Pays Dividends," various groups and individuals have been speaking on Radio Station WFUL each morning this week at 9:30.

Milton School will climax its observance with a program tomorrow (Friday) night at 7:30, with a speaker and student participation.

Terry Norman PTA has an exhibit in the show window at Weeks' store.

In view of the theme for the week, "Education Pays Dividends," President John F. Kennedy's words, "We cannot afford to not educate," takes on an even greater meaning. Mr. Kennedy also said that "educating citizens who can maintain a free society is the heaviest responsibility which can fall on a person." He was speaking in honor of a teacher, but much can be accomplished by both teachers and parents assuming this responsibility, he added.

Daniel Webster said, "If we work on marble it will perish; if brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will crumble into dust; but if we work on immortal minds and imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God and love of our fellow men, we engrave on those tablets something that will brighten all eternity."

The American Education Week Committee is composed of: Mrs. J. P. McClay, Chairman, Mrs. Gilbert DeMyer, Mrs. Elmer Hixson, Mrs. Hugh Jackson and Mrs. Leonard Allen.

Future Teachers At Murray Meet

Six officers of the Fulton High Future Teachers of America attended the area conference at Murray State College on November 5th.

They were: Sara Jane Poe, president; Andy Batts, vice president; Phyllis Crocker, secretary; Jennifer Duncan, treasurer; Cheryl Underwood, historian, and Susan Walker, parliamentarian. They were accompanied by their sponsor, Mrs. LaNette Allen.

UPPER CRUST!

And have you heard about the stylish clam? He was an upper crustacean!

School Leaders Attend KEA Meet At Murray

Attending the fall drive-in Kentucky Education Association Conference in Murray on November 5 were the following members of the Fulton Teachers Association: W. L. Holland, superintendent; Bobby Snider, president of the association; Billy Sensing, TEPS committee; Mrs. Marian Richardson, ethics committee; Miss Janet Allen, program committee; Miss Katherine Williamson, legislative committee, and Mrs. Patricia Steele, public relations committee.

He smiled weekly as he explained the problem.

Illinois Central Says Banana Festival A Theme Come True

(The Illinois Central Railroad, whose vast operations here can be directly credited with the possibility of a Banana Festival in the twin cities, took note of the recent event in their IC Magazine. Pointing out that the Festival this year stressed an international theme for good neighborliness with our Central American friends, the article summed up the fact that our Project-Unité Us is indeed a theme come true. Here's the article.)

Straddling the state line between Kentucky and Tennessee are the twin communities of Fulton and South Fulton, separated only by that same state line. The combined communities have a population of only 7,000, but last month they put on a civic event that would do justice to a city ten or 20 times their size.

The event was the Second International Banana Festival on October 1-2-3. Eyebrows were raised last year when Nathan Wade, Fulton furniture merchant and business leader, suggested an international banana festival. Why Fulton? people asked. No bananas grow in Fulton! No, answered Mr. Wade, none grow here, but this community nevertheless is a great banana center. For many years the Illinois Central Railroad, the leading carrier of bananas among American railroads, has brought millions of bananas to Fulton.

Mr. Wade's facts were correct. The Illinois Central maintains facilities at New Yard in Fulton that can service 125 carloads of bananas at a single time. Bananas move in fast trains from New Orleans and other gulf ports to Fulton, where they are inspected by resident managers representing the banana companies. The fruit is shipped green in refrigerator cars. If ripener fruit is desired, the car may be deiced or even heated. Weather has a great influence on whether the car is iced, de-iced or heated. For example, in March this year, when 2,850 carloads of bananas arrived in Fulton, only 31 required icing, whereas 426 required heating.

Fulton is also a holding and reconsigning point. Cars not already sold as they roll north are switched to a "hold" track in New Yard, there to await purchase orders.

With this transportation and commercial fact as the inspiration for their idea, Wade, backed by an enthusiastic group of civic leaders, approached Ralph Lally, president of the National Banana Association. Why not an annual festival that would lend itself to a broad exchange of ideas, culture and commerce with the Latin American countries that produced bananas, they asked. Why not? answered Lally, and the first festival was born. The success of the 1963 event led inevitably to the 1964 festival.

Among the attractions this year was the display train furnished by the Illinois Central. The train, which was on display at the Fulton passenger depot, included a diesel engine, a passenger coach, a Pullman car and a freight caboose, all coupled to allow visitors to climb aboard the engine and to easily pass through the train. Behind the caboose was a refrigerator car newly turned out from McComb Shop. After visitors toured the train they mounted steps into the ice-cooled interior of the refrigerator, where they found a big supply of bananas ripe for eating.

"With all those banana peelings, one of our biggest jobs was picking them up," said Richard T. Bodker, assistant special agent, one of the Illinois Central men who staffed the display train. "We didn't want anybody to go off into orbit, coming down those stairs."

Other Illinois Central men passed out descriptive literature and answered questions on railroading and travel. Lester W. McAdams, traveling electrical and diesel inspector, answered hundreds of questions on how to operate an engine, asked by an endless stream of boys and their fathers. The Pullman car was a popular spot in the exhibit train. O. D. Moody, traveling porter inspector, found a great deal of interest on the part of the public in learning more about roomettes and bedrooms.

The three days were jammed with individual events, topped off by the big event on October 3 when more than 40,000 persons watched as 33 bands, 55 marching units and numerous floats carrying beauty queens, including Miss America herself, passed by in a parade extending more than three miles. Mary Alice Coleman, Illinois Central Magazine correspondent in the general foreman's office at Fulton, gave the highlights of the event-packed three days in her report:

"There was something doing every minute. The first day a banana box derby, movies from Central America, a junior Olympics track meet, a street dance with talent show, square dancing and a twist contest, and a Mardi Gras with lingo games. The second day, Latin American Day, started with a banana pancake breakfast, followed by a big program in the high school featuring W. Averell Harriman and diplomatic representatives from Honduras, Costa Rica, Guatemala and Ecuador, a soccer match between Latin American teams, a beauty pageant and a music festival. The third day, in addition to the big parade, had a Miss America luncheon, banana bakeoff contest, arts and crafts exhibit of Latin American items, a big feast after the parade when a one-ton banana pudding was served the crowd, the crowning of the Banana Princess and many, many other events."

The Latin American theme of the festival gave downtown Fulton a gay atmosphere. Everywhere on the windows appeared expressions in Spanish, such as "Bienvenidos a Fulton amigos" (welcome to Fulton, friends) and "Mucho gusto en conocerte" (very happy to know you) and "Nos sentimos muy contentos con su presencia" (we are pleased that you are here). Stems of bananas swayed from street signs, and passersby picked bananas freely. The more than 40 visitors from various Latin American countries in native costume mixed with the crowds that thronged the sidewalks of the city.

On Latin American Day the key speaker was W. Averell Harriman, under secretary of state. Speaking before a large audience in the high school auditorium, he complimented the community on dedicating a new Avenue of the Americas as a symbol of international friendship. In a talk full of interesting facts, he described how the Good Neighbor policy launched 30 years ago by President Franklin Roosevelt has continued to grow, so that the two Americas today are closer together than ever before.

Mr. Harriman was an ideal spokesman for Latin American Day because of his long career in both commerce and industry and government. He was introduced by Johanna Westpheling, co-editor of the Fulton News and one of the creators of the Banana Festival. "President Kennedy said of our speaker today, 'Except for John Quincy Adams, he has held more important governmental assignments than any other American.'"

In his remarks, Mr. Harriman spoke of his long career as an Illinois Central director before he left business to enter government. All told, he served 28 years, during 10 years of which he was chairman of the executive committee of the railroad. "I recall during the depression how we counted the banana trains, which helped to bring the Illinois Central through the bad times," said Mr. Harriman.

Later, speaking at the soccer game between Honduras and Costa Rica, Mr. Harriman summed up the achievement of Fulton in these words, "America is built on the initiative of individuals and of individual communities. You here in this community have shown admirable initiative."

CHESTNUT GLADE

By Mrs. Harvey Vaughn

The very fine harvesting weather continues after the showers on the week end. Much of the harvesting has been completed in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brundige, Mrs. Eula Rogers and Mrs. Yvonne Smith visited Garrett Brundige in Vanderbilt Hospital at Nashville last Saturday. Garrett had surgery there Friday and is improving satisfactorily.

Best wishes to Wilburn Holloway, the much admired Fulton Route 5 carrier, who is a patient in Campbell's Clinic in Memphis, where he is recovering from bone surgery. His many friends will be glad to learn that he appears to be making satisfactory progress toward recovery.

Mrs. Elsie Williams appears to be recovering very nicely, after being in a very serious condition following major surgery recently. Her sister, Lella, and her husband from Detroit are spending several days with them.

Mrs. Relma Jones from Paducah spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Clara Nix, and attended the services at Sandy Branch Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. J. T. Simpson is improving. Mr. Simpson, who has been bedfast more than a year, appears to be about the same.

Several relatives visited Mrs. Edna Strong at the Henderson Rest Home last week. They report that she appears to be getting along as well as can be expected.

Friends in this community will be glad to know that Mrs. Ellen Brown, who has lived in Texas, Ohio and Michigan for the past several years, has returned to Fulton and is making her home with Mrs. Icie Williams. She is an Avon representative and will be calling on her friends in this community.

REGULAR CHURCH WORSHIP

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."

A SYMBOL OF SAFETY

When the ship is in danger, we can depend on the life-boats to take us over the seas to safety. It is comforting to glance at the life-boat when the seas are rough.

Our Armed Services are a symbol of safety when our country is in trouble, when war threatens to raise its ugly head. In the past, when war has come, our servicemen have not hesitated to give their lives to protect and defend us.

There is a special Day each year when we remember and honor our servicemen who have died in the defense of our blessed country. Let us not forget, as individuals, to honor these dead and give thanks to God for those who protect us even now. Remember them as you attend church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

As for incidents concerning the public accommodations law, affecting restaurants and motels, adherence by operators of these businesses have been lawful and acquiescent. If any colored people have been turned away from these local establishments I don't know anything about it, and I think I would.

Just as I have known that some area school administrators have found it in the best interest that certain good athletes on our twin-city teams be "benched" during team-play in the particular cities. I think our school administrators and the coaches involved used good judgment in not making a public issue of the matter. Our players involved showed far, far more Americanism by showing that "extremism in the pursuit of liberty" is indeed criminal, as Barry Goldwater well knows by now.

It is a compliment to the good sportsmanship of our athletes to "sit out a game" rather than to "sit-in" on the revolting demonstration by a few rabble-rousers looking for trouble. Indeed, we owe our school administrators, our students and the players involved a real debt of gratitude for accepting with courage the fact that it was not their opposing team-mates, the coaches, the school administrators nor their classmates who "benched" them.

I think that the good judgment and sportsmanship displayed by our twin city people will bring shame upon those people who would undermine the reputation of our schools and theirs by creating unpleasant scenes at a sports event. The "hot-heads" will be taken care of in due time; meanwhile we have shown ourselves to be good sports and understanding people. The matter will be brought to the attention of the proper authorities, at which time we know the rabble-rousers will show their real cowardice by retreating.

The Fulton News is my weekly anticipation I am particularly proud of my home town since the very successful second Banana Festival.

I wish to pay tribute to you, the Westphelings, the civic organizations and the citizens of the Twin Cities, who have done so much in the progress of Fulton.

It is a satisfaction that no longer do I need to explain, "Why a Banana Festival?" Nor do I need to express the location of our Kentucky-Tennessee town.

Sincerely,

Ivy Cheek Brann (Mrs. J. C.)

Dear Mrs. Westpheling:

We have been enjoying very much a copy of the October 22 News, sent to us from Fulton. We had seen a short show of the Banana Festival on "You Asked For It" on TV last week. My dad was thrilled over it, so I'd like to have a year's subscription sent to him, as he does enjoy hearing from home. He is Thomas B. Guill, 1868 Enesco Avenue, San Jose, Calif.

We have been here since 1959, but still miss home. Actually, dad has been gone from there since 1955 and does get very homesick. He suffered a severe heart attack last February 25 and is so afraid he'll never make it back there and this will help his morale.

Thank you very much again for the good work on your paper and we did enjoy it so much.

Mrs. Marilyn Hughes

fice, where scouting needs are taken care of.

5 - Maintenance and replacement of films, screens and projectors used by the units and the district leaders to train unit leaders, etc.

6 - Salaries for two paid full-time secretaries in the Council office. These girls make it possible for unit leaders to get badges, etc., which have been ordered - and to get them in a hurry.

These are but six of the many things the dollars are spent for. Scouting is at an all-time high in this area and it is directly related to the fact that the local council has put its men into the field to aid in the work carried on by the volunteer. Boy Scouting is one of the great factors in the development of a boy's character.

WSCS Circle Hears Story Of Institute

Circle 1 of the Fulton First Methodist Church W. C. S. C. met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. W. Hart, with Mrs. Royce Cooke co-hostess.

Roll call was answered with verses of Thanksgiving from the Book of Psalms. Mrs. Rob Fowlkes, Mrs. Frank Merryman and Mrs. Will Holman had visited the shut-in members.

A definite decision regarding a Christmas dinner meeting was postponed and Mrs. Kelly Wood will report on this later. Mrs. J. O. Lewis remarked briefly on the repercussions of the recent presidential campaign. Mrs. Kelly Wood and Mrs. J. T. Willey gave an interesting dialogue - "Holding Institute a Continuing Story," taken from the book of programs. Holding is a Methodist school in Laredo, Texas.

Mrs. Herman Williamson reported on an article, "The Poor," by Dorothy McConnell, which is an episode of life in Appalachia.

After a Thanksgiving meditation, Mrs. J. O. Lewis closed the meeting with a prayer.

During a social hour cake and coffee were served by the hostesses to seventeen members.

Youth Choir Of Baptist Church To Appear With Billy Graham

The 40-member youth choir of First Baptist Church left for Louisville today to present special music at the Thursday night session of the Kentucky State Baptist Convention in Louisville.

The choir was accompanied by Diane Foster, pianist, and Cheryl Underwood will be the trumpet soloist. Miss Underwood is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Underwood and Miss Foster's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Foster.

On Friday night, which is "Youth Night," the Fulton choir will sing with 125 other choirs of Kentucky in a 3,000-voice choir at the Billy Graham meeting at Freedom Hall. About 23,000 persons are expected to attend.

The choir, directed by Norman White, left Fulton at noon Thursday in cars accompanied by adult chaperones.

Mr. and Mrs. White left Tuesday morning to attend the convention. He is a member of the committee on organizations.
